MINING.

Developments in the Mineral Circles of the County.

PERSONAL PARAGRAPHS.

The Kentucky Fluor Spar Company shipped during the month of June over nine hundred tons of fluor spar.

Joseph Waggoner is prospecting on an option obtained from R. W. Wilson, Esq. The land is located near Crittenden Springs.

A very promising vein of fluor spar has been discovered on the land of Mr. D. W. Belt, seventy-eight acres of which is optioned to the Western Kentucky Mining Company for a term of years.

The Electric Light plant is being vigorously pushed by Mr. Maxwell, who hopes to have the pleasure of dimming the light of the moon and stars in the streets of Marion before many weeks.

On the 147 acres of the Farmer estate property, which is an extension of the lands of the Old V mine, considerable work is being done, but with rather indifferent results.

The Columbia No. 2, more fully known as the Latham lacer, Mr. Drescher, of the West-pole, Kentucky Mining Company, is taking out 20 to 30 tons of zinc oxide and fluor spar for the purpose of testing a new cleaning process.

We regret to learn that Mr. Posathwait was compelled, by serious illness, to sever his connection for a time, at least, with the Kentucky Fluor Spar Company. He will remain at the home of his father at Paris, Tenn., for awhile, in order to recuperate.

The corps of Illinois Central surveyors for the St. Louis-Nashville Short line, whose survey covers one corner of the Crittenden Springs hotel property delimits everybody, moved across the river to Cave-in-Rock, and are running a line from that point to the Central's St. Louis terminal.

The barbecue over at Sheridan on the fourth was a pronounced success. We noticed our very efficient recorder, Mr. Woods, was present, and had one of the largest pieces of meat, and probably one of the best, that the animal could furnish. Speeches were made by several candidates for office. Recorder Woods didn't believe much in open air oratory, but he always gets there just the same.

Columbus, the only Christopher, whose aid has made the Springs what it is, is having a hard time of it these hot days. When he is not killing chickens he is shoeing out animated pork, and his voice in the early morning, as it resounds through the hills and dales surrounding the hotel, would give pointers to a fog horn. In trying to catch a dog the other day by tying a tin can to its tail, Columbus nearly equaled his illustrious namesake, who made the egg stand on end by breaking it. Our Columbus nearly broke the dog.

Fluor spar in lots of one ton and upward will be bought delivered at or near the Marion depot, if clear from dirt and rock, at good cash prices.

Mr. R. W. Bingham, President of the Western Kentucky Mining Company, accompanied the members of the Louisville Board of Trade during its recent trips through the Bluegrass and Pennyrile sections of Kentucky, as the special representative of the mayor of Louisville. Judging from the Courier-Journal specials, Mr. Bingham done the mayor more than proud in his response to the speeches of welcome from the various municipalities through which the special train passed.

The option obtained on the Hubbard property by Messrs. Walker, Larue and Clements is being actively worked. This property is situated about a mile and a quarter southwest of the celebrated "Old Jim" mine of Messrs. Blue & Nunn, and should carry the "Old Jim" vein through it. Mr. Larue, one of the owners, is connected with the firm of the Simmons Hardware Company, of St. Louis, the corporation that has had so much to do with the rehabilitation of the Grand Rivers Iron Works.

It may be of interest to our people to know the result of the first analysis of zinc carbonate taken from what is now known as the Old Jim mine. The sample was one of the original pieces exposed on the surface of the ground known as the George Rice farm and was taken to Chicago last fall:

Zinc 47.46 per cent. equal to 92.23 per cent. of zinc carbonate.
Silica, 1.19 per cent.
Oxide of iron and alumina, 2.90 per cent.
Calcium carbonate, 3.25 per cent.
Magnesium, .52 per cent.

The ore has held its own, and if anything appreciated in value ever since, notwithstanding the large shipments made.

ON THE WING.

Rev. Price Writes an Interesting Letter from Cincinnati.

Cincinnati, with her suburbs constitutes the meshes of a great city of 500,000 inhabitants. There is the city proper with its suburbs—Mt. Hope, Fairmount, Westwood, Cumminsville, Clifton, Avondale, Norwood, Corryville and Linwood on the Ohio side, and Dayton, Bellevue, Newport, Covington, West Covington, Ludlow, and Bromley on the Kentucky side. These are all connected by a network of electric cars, and railroads, so you can quickly go from any one point to another. Five bridges span the Ohio and three the Licking river, binding all these cities together in closest intimacy.

Cincinnati was first named Lonsantiville, named by John Filson, a pedantic school teacher, who wanted to show his knowledge of four languages in the name. Translated and read backwards it meant "the city or village (ville, French) opposite (anti, Greek) the month (os, Latin) of the Licking (L, English abbreviation of Licking). In 1790 Gen. St. Clair named it Cincinnati, in honor of the Society of Cincinnati, composed of officers of the revolutionary army.

Fountain Square, in which is the celebrated Tyler-Davidson, the finest fountain in America, is the center of Cincinnati. From it all distances are measured, and it is the starting point for all the street cars. Seven street cars pass there, on an average, every minute. With its numerous parks, the finest "Zoo" in America, and its superb public buildings, it has many attractions for the visitor.

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVORERS.

Twentieth Annual Convention of the International Christian Endeavor Society.

CINCINNATI FILLED WITH DELEGATES.

The Gathering Promised to Be the Largest in the History of the Society—Synopsis of President Clark's Annual Address and Secretary Haer's Report.

THE GATHERING PROMISED TO BE THE LARGEST IN THE HISTORY OF THE SOCIETY—SYNOPSIS OF PRESIDENT CLARK'S ANNUAL ADDRESS AND SECRETARY HAER'S REPORT.

Cincinnati, July 6.—The twentieth annual convention of the International Christian Endeavor Society began a five-days' session in this city. The registration of delegates and visitors is unusually large, and the indications are that the attendance will be the largest in the history of these great gatherings. In addition to the receptions and rallies at different state headquarters, the business session of the United Society of Christian Endeavor was held during the forenoon, at which the annual reports of the officers and business agents were submitted.

The annual session of the trustees was held during the afternoon.

The grand openings with welcome addresses and the annual address of President Clark and the annual report of Secretary Haer took place simultaneously in the Auditorium at night. Three large auditoriums and a large hall have been arranged on the old exposition grounds adjoining Washington park, on Elm street.

A large platform has also been constructed in Washington park for overflow open-air meetings.

Music hall has been designated as Auditorium Endeavor; Power hall is called Auditorium Williston, and Horticultural hall is known as Auditorium Ohio. Odell hall is the fourth in this group.

Dr. T. S. Hamlin, of Washington, D. C., presided at one of the night meetings, with F. H. Jacobs, of Brooklyn, as musical director.

Bishop Samuel Fallows, of Chicago, presided in the other, with Percy S. Foster, of Washington, D. C., as musical director. Eminent soloists assisted the chorus of 1,200 voices in each of these auditoriums. In addition to the welcome addresses by members of the local committee, the city and state governments and others, there were responses by T. H. Keller, of Milwaukee; Rev. A. Miyaki, of Osaka, Japan; Rev. Geo. A. Hubbard, of Atlanta; Rev. Geo. A. McAnley, of Wilton, N. J.; Rev. W. J. Darby, of Evansville, Ind.; and Rev. Wm. G. Marsh, of Adelaide, Australia.

President Clark's Annual Address.

President Francis E. Clark, in his annual address, said in part:

"For every age God prepares his agencies. As the wing is made for the flier, and the bird is made for the air, and the fish is made for the water, so in the moral and religious world God adapts his plans and methods to the needs of the time.

"The nineteenth century saw peculiar perils assail the young man. The saloon, the brothel, the gambling den, commercialism and materialism, these were his temptations. But God looked down from Heaven upon the children of men, and in the midst of the temptations of the age, the Christian Endeavor society was started to set young men at work for young men in a new evangelism.

"The days of the rampant infidel and atheist are in the past and I devoutly believe, no infidelism could today greatly outrange the thought of the world. No Voltaire or Rousseau could number his followers by millions. Robert Ingersoll to-day is little but a memory of a great name.

"But something more insidious and harmful, a thousand times, than blatant infidelity is the foe of the church of the twentieth century. This infidelity is a skepticism of life rather than of fact. It is the indifference that is born of luxury and ease. It needs the prayer meeting. It needs more thoroughgoing and effective organization in church life and it needs to be more united.

"The new century will be a century of mighty spiritual and tremendous aggregations of material forces. These should be a combination of the Christian forces of the land to work together in harmony and brotherly love and united service for the kingdom of our Lord and for their native land."

The report of Secretary Haer's Report.

The report of General Secretary John Willis Haer was, in part, as follows:

"In 1891 the close of the first decade of Christian Endeavor, there were 16,274 societies, and we returned hearty thanks to God for what He had wrought. In this year 1901, at the close of Christian Endeavor's second decade, we must estimate the same numerical though differently arranged. The increase in numerical strength for the 16,274 societies have become 64,457. The nearly one million members have become nearly four millions. This growth is marvelous and nothing comparable to it can be found in history. The rapidity with which the society has multiplied is no farther, having competed attention around the world, that we have in late years accepted that fact as commonplace. I remind you of this wonderful numerical extension of Christian Endeavor because it proves to me beyond a doubt that ours is not a man-made society, but a broad, international, fraternal, and interdenominational brotherhood. 'Man can organize a society, God creates a movement.'"

"The international fellowship of new societies since we met in the great London convention last July, is nearly two hundred. In other words, the net increase during the past year equals the total number of societies organized during the first seven years of our society's history. There have been more than 2,000 new societies added to the lists, but the net gain has not been quite that, because we have lost to return, we believe, many societies that have disbanded for various reasons, or that have become exclusively denominational societies.

"The international fellowship, which has been from the first a blessed fruit of Christian Endeavor, has, during the past year, been fostered as never before. There was a time when it seemed that this unique feature of Christian Endeavor would be imperiled, but those days have gone, never to return, we believe. The denominational loyalty of local Christian Endeavorers is seldom challenged, but, on the contrary, we find it officially and heartily commended by many ecclesiastical courts and assemblies in many denominations.

"One of the most gratifying facts to report is steady growth in foreign and missionary lands. Secretary Chapman, of the British section, reported an increase of 500 societies, particular mention being made of the number of Episcopalian and Christian Endeavor societies that have been organized the past year in the Church of England. This, and other splendid achievements by our English brothers show convincingly that the great London convention was blessed of God.

"Indeed, nothing shows the adaptability of Christian Endeavor to every climate and country more than the fact that there are national Christian Endeavor unions in the United States, Canada, England, Scotland, Ireland, Wales, Australia, France, South Germany, South Africa, India, China, Mexico and Japan, and that Christian Endeavor leaders and constitutions may now be found in Chinese, Japanese, Malay, Persian, Arabic, Turkish, Bulgarian, Armenian, Slavonic, German, French, Italian, Greek, Spanish, Swedish, Dutch, Norwegian, Welsh, Australian, Hungarian, Coptic, Mexican, Portuguese, Indian, the many dialects of India and Africa.

"Very naturally the increase in junior and intermediate societies continues to be interesting. There are now over 16,000 junior societies and 1,286 intermediate societies, the first with 483,000 members, and the second with 28,200.

"A larger number than ever of our societies have adopted some systematic and proportionate plan for giving money to the cause of missions, to their home churches, and to other benevolent causes. More and more is Christian Endeavor becoming an evangelistic agency for Christ. In all 150,000 young people have in the last 12 months joined the church from the ranks of our societies.

Sunday the daily quiet hour meetings will be held from 8 to 9 a. m., in the churches, and the visiting delegates will supply over two hundred pulpits morning and evening in this city and vicinity.

On Sunday afternoon the great auditoriums will be used for meetings simultaneously for children, men and women from 2 to 3:30 p. m., and other meetings will be held from 4 to 5 p. m. In the interest of Sabbath observance, temperance and missions. Very elaborate programmes have been prepared for the different auditoriums and churches simultaneously for Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday from 8 a. m. to 10 p. m., and the list of speakers includes the most eminent ministers and lecturers in the country on their special topics.

SOUTH DAKOTA SENATORSHIP.

Hon. A. B. Kittredge Will Probably be Appointed to Fill Out the Late Senator Kyle's Term.

Omaha, Neb., July 6.—A special to the World-Herald from Sioux Falls, S. D., says:

Hon. A. B. Kittredge, a prominent attorney of this city and ex-republican national committeeman from South Dakota, will be appointed by Gov. Herried to fill the vacancy caused by the death, a few days ago, of United States Senator James H. Kyle.

Mr. Kittredge is a resident of what is considered Senator Gamble's district, and his appointment, it is said, will leave a clear field in the north portion of the state for the various candidates for the full term of six years from March 4, 1903. It is expected that Gov. Herried will make the appointment within the next few days.

CALIFORNIA RANCH TRAGEDY.

Peter Tidman Kills His Wife, Places His Buildings and Commits Suicide Near Elmore, Cal.

Riverside, Cal., July 6.—Particulars of a tragedy enacted at a ranch five miles from Elmore have just been learned. On a ranch occupied by Peter Tidman and wife, both were found dead, and the ranch had been devastated by fire. The body of Mrs. Tidman was found in a ditch 100 yards from the burned residence. The skull was crushed and the throat cut. Tidman's body was found in a little canyon back of the house. After two unsuccessful attempts to cut his throat he had lain himself down on the ground, placed his face in a water-bow and was drowned. The man had killed his wife and then committed suicide.

AN IMPORTANT CAPTURE.

Belarmino, An Insurgent Leader, and a Thousand Men Round-up and Captured.

ARMS AND AMMUNITION BROUGHT IN.

The Second Infantry Drove the Command Across the Mountains in Sorsogon, and the Sixth Cavalry, Under Col. Wint, Gobbled Up the Entire Outfit.

Manila, July 6.—The forces of the insurgent leader Belarmino, which recently have been operating around Donsol, Province of Sorsogon, were driven across the mountains by the Second Infantry and finally captured by the Sixth cavalry. Belarmino with 1,000 men and 214 guns, surrendered to Col. Wint, at Albay, capital of the province of that name. Two hundred more rifles will be surrendered.

Official Announcement.
Later in the day the official announcement of the surrender of Belarmino was made. According to this account Belarmino, who has been operating in the province of Sorsogon, surrendered, Thursday last, at Legaspi, on Albay bay, with 32 officers, 313 guns and 4,000 rounds of ammunition. The insurgent president of that section of the country and many Filipinos accompanied Belarmino, who gave himself up to Col. Theo. J. Wint, of the Sixth cavalry. In all, since June, 1,082 insurgents have surrendered in that district. Col. Wint's regiment came from China with ten Chaffee. Before disembarking at Legaspi, Col. Wint went to Gen. Chaffee and asked the latter if he desired him to clear up that part of the country. Gen. Chaffee replied: "Yes, but I do not command until July 4." In three weeks Belarmino was cornered, in spite of the theories of many officers that cavalry could not be used in effective operations in such a country.

To Negotiate with Malvar.
The insurgent Gen. Calles, who surrendered at Santa Cruz, Laguna province, June 24, and his friends have offered to negotiate with Malvar, the insurgent leader in southern Luzon, for the latter's surrender.

"The sultan, the day I saw him, wore a dress suit, without collar or cuffs. For headgear he had a skull cap on, in the front of which was set an enormous diamond. He is a little man with a no more striking personality than is given him by his costume. When standing he hardly came above the elbow of the average American."

Capt. Smiley has been transferred to Madison barracks.

San Francisco, July 6.—There are no developments in the shortage of gold in gold at the mint, aside from the suspension of Casdler Cole and Chief Clerk Dummick, pending further investigation. ## OPENING OKLAHOMA.

Proclamation By the President—August 6th Named as the Date.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—The proclamation of President McKinley opening to settlement the lands ceded in Oklahoma was made public today. The proclamation covers the cessions made by the Wichita and affiliated bands of Indians in accordance with the act of March, 1899, and those made by the Comanche, Kiowa and Apache tribes in pursuance of the act of July 6, 1900.

The proclamation provides for the opening of the lands in those reservations which are not reserved at 9 o'clock a. m., on August 6 next, the lands to be open to settlement under the homestead and town site laws of the United States.

Beginning on the 10th instant and ending on the 26th, those who wish to make entry of land under the homestead law shall be registered. The registration will take place in the land offices at Reno and Lawton. The registration at each office will be for both land districts. To obtain registration the applicant will be required to show himself duly qualified to make homestead entry of these lands under existing laws and to give the registering officer such appropriate matters of description and identity as will protect the applicant and the government against any attempted imposition. Registration can not be effected through the use of the mails or the employment of an agent, excepting that honorably discharged soldiers and sailors may present their applications through an agent, no agent being allowed to represent more than one soldier. No person will be allowed to register more than once. After being registered applicants will be given certificates, allowing them to go upon the ceded lands and examine them in order to aid them in making an intelligent selection. It is explicitly stated that no one will be permitted to make settlement upon any of the lands in advance of the opening provided for, and the statement is added that "during the first sixty days following said opening no one but registered applicants will be permitted to make homestead settlement upon any of said lands, and then only in pursuance of a homestead entry duly allowed by the local land officers or of a soldier's declaratory statement duly accepted by such officers."

LOST THE SHERIFF'S POSSE.

Great Northern Bandits Gave Their Pursuers and Are Practically Released of Chase.

ASACOMA, Mont., July 6.—Special dispatches from a staff correspondent of the Associated Standard, on the ground, are to the effect that there is now little hope of the sheriff's posse overtaking the men who held up the Great Northern express train at Wagner, Mont. last Wednesday. The correspondent has just returned from the section of the country where the ponies were expected to overtake the robbers. His account is that the pursuers have been outwitted and that the robbers have eluded them and are either well on their way toward the "hole in the wall" country in Wyoming, the most northern refuge of criminals in the United States, or have gained the intricacies of the Bad Lands along the Missouri river near the Little Rockies.

EXTENSION TO FORT WORTH.

Plans of the International & Great Northern Company.

FORT WORTH, Tex., July 7.—Assistant General Superintendent G. L. Noble and other minor officials of the International & Great Northern Railroad Company were here last night. Some facts were disclosed about the building of the road to Fort Worth. Mr. Noble stated that the Waco extension will soon be completed, when the Spring connection will be made so trains can run from Houston to Waco. When this work is done the gap between Waco and Fort Worth will be built and the work of construction will commence at both ends. It is the intention of the International to get into Fort Worth as soon as possible.

CUBAN ELECTORAL LAW.

Convention at Sea Because of Unfavorable as to What Washington Will Do.

HAVANA, July 7.—The Cuban constitutional convention has not yet arrived at an understanding regarding the electoral law. The conservatives are quite hopeless with respect to the rescinding of the universal suffrage clause, and they are now endeavoring to secure a plural vote for property holders, and for professional and business men. In this they are strongly opposed by the Radicals.

An objection has recently been raised against drawing up the electoral law until the United States government has approved the constitution, the argument being that it would be useless to draft laws based upon the constitution, if Washington is going to make changes in this instrument.

Figuring on Exposition Funds.

BUFFALO, July 7.—The total attendance to date at the Pan-American Exposition is 1,779,868. It is believed that July and August will bring the total to above 5,000,000, and it will remain for September and October to bring the remainder of the 10,000,000 at which the standard guesses has been set. Eight million paid admissions with the revenues from concessions will repay the cost of the exposition. President McKinley will come to the exposition in September. There will be a president's day in honor of his presence.

BEYOND THE SPAN OF LIFE.

Calipris Are Sometimes Sentenced to Centuries of Imprisonment.

To be sentenced to imprisonment for the term of one's natural life is hard enough, but to be consigned to a dungeon cell for a couple of thousand years is indeed harrowing. Yet foreign judges not infrequently impose sentences of several centuries without it being considered anything remarkable. Not long ago an Italian adventurer was convicted of 63 distinct forgeries. He was sentenced in each case, with the result that he will be free in the year 2089.

A couple of years ago a young man was arrested in Vienna who, upon his own showing, should have been sentenced to 2,500 years' imprisonment. A total of 400 charges was brought against him, and he was convicted and sentenced on all of them. But the

The dining-room is scrupulously clean, and the mozos are in attendance in their spotless white blouses (which resemble our shirt waists, with the gathering string let out at the bottom), the corners tied in a hard knot in front below the waist, says a writer in the International Magazine. The first meal of the day is called desayuno, and consists usually of different kinds of bread, some very fancy and sweet, with coffee or chocolate, also fruit and eggs, if you desire them. After a very slow canter about the country on the back of a burro, through banana groves, to sugar plantations, etc., you return promptly at 12 o'clock, ready for your dinner (comida). This is a full course meal, beginning with soup

SENATOR JAMES HENDERSON KYLE.

It is reported from Aberdeen, S. D., his home, that United States Senator Kyle is seriously ill of heart failure. Senator Kyle, who leans towards the doctrines of the populist party, is one of the most unique members of congress. He began life as a civil engineer, afterward became a clergyman of the Congregational denomination, and finally developed into one of the most astute politicians of South Dakota. He is now in his forty-eighth year, and is a native of Xenia, O. Washington correspondents say that he is one of the strongest men, intellectually, in the upper house.

judge was a merciful man, and in passing sentence he threw off 1,000 years in consideration of the man's youth. A little time ago, in the great Calabrian brigandage trial in Naples, the public prosecutor demanded sentence upon 215 prisoners, and although the average sentence imposed was a little over five years the aggregate of the sentences amounted to 1,300 years' imprisonment.

THE OLD-FASHIONED BOY.

An Inquiry About a Missing Type Made at a Dinner of Old-Timers.

At a little dinner of a few old-timers in this city the other night, reports the New York Sun, one of the speakers said: "What has become of the old-fashioned boy? The one who looked like his father when his father carried the sort of pomposity which was like the and rice. All the dishes are novel and are generally liked. Some of them are rather hot, but after a few meals you find that your taste for chile con carne has become cultivated, and you enjoy the piquancy of the delicacies set before you. I have learned to be very fond of the Mexican's favorites, such as chiles stuffed with cheese and roasted; very delicious combination of peas, pineapple and banana boiled together; meats dressed with chile; salad of the alligator pear (bitter fruit); onions, tomato and chile, and the stand-by of all Mexicans, tortillas (corn cakes) and frijoles (beans). These last are always served after the meat courses. Then we have the dulces (preserved fruits) and coffee. The cena (supper) at seven is of the same number of courses as the dinner and very much like it.

WILL NOT BE RELEASED.

Americans Captured With the Boers Will Be Held Till the War Is Over.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Americans fighting in the Boer armies and made prisoners by the British will have to endure their captivity until the close of the South African war.

Great Britain has declined to comply with the request of this government to release an American now confined on the island of Ceylon, and this declination will probably prove a bar to further representations by the state department in behalf of Americans captured as belligerents in South Africa. The test case was that of a naturalized American named Morgan, who claims residence in Virginia.

Sir Alfred Milner, the British high commissioner in South Africa, disapproves of the release of foreigners who fought with the Boers. He has announced that a person who serves as a belligerent with the Boer forces loses his nationality and must be treated as an enemy. This view is concurred in by the legal officers of the state department.

The department is satisfied, from investigation made by American consuls and the British authorities, that all reports that the British are ill-treating their prisoners are without foundation. The only hardship that Americans captured in South Africa will have to undergo will be that of confinement until hostilities cease.

In order to secure prompt settlement of claims filed by American citizens for personal and property damages sustained in South Africa, as a result of the actions of the British troops, the state department has officially requested all claimants to submit memorials setting forth the facts in connection with their claims, which will be transmitted through Ambassador Choate, to the British claims commission, now sitting in London.

The department is in receipt of complaints from numerous persons, claiming American nationality, which are the basis of claims, but the records are not complete and in many cases the citizenship of the claimants is not established. The claims, which submit estimates of the damage suffered, amount to several hundred thousand dollars. The department does not see how it will be possible to secure a settlement of claims arising out of damages following upon acts of the Boer government, as that government has ceased to exist. In the case of claims to mining rights, it is possible that the British government may allow claimants the privilege of recourse to the civil courts when they shall have been established.

CLAIMS AGAINST "UNCLE SAM"

By Great Britain Will Not Be Settled By One-Sided Arbitration.

WASHINGTON, July 7.—Consent to the arbitration of British claims against the United States will not be given by this government until Great Britain agrees to the arbitration of American claims pending against her.

This is the decision of the state department upon a request of Great Britain that certain claims arising out of the expulsion of British subjects from Hawaii during the royalist troubles in those islands be referred to arbitration.

This government is not, of course, opposed to the principle of arbitration. Great Britain has, however, consistently declined to arbitrate claims presented by this government, including the Fiji claims, which have greater merit than those which resulted from the conditions in Hawaii. American claims amount to several hundred thousand dollars, while those submitted by Great Britain have a much smaller aggregate.

The department is anxious to clear up all the claims pending between the two governments, and if Great Britain will agree to arbitrate the American claims the United States will undoubtedly be willing to adopt this course with respect to British claims.

TERRIBLE HEAT IN TEXAS.

Fruit Being Cooked on the Trees—Cattle on Ranges Seriously Menaced.

GAINESVILLE, Tex., July 7.—This has been an awful day for heat, the thermometer standing 107 in the shade and 132 in the sun.

The situation here is very serious. The cotton crop is not only in jeopardy, but the apple and peach crops are cooking on the trees. They will amount to nothing.

The worst feature of all is that the little green bugs are appearing in many fields of cotton and have begun to do serious damage.

There is a water famine of the worst description, and the leading ranchmen say that if it does not rain in a few days they will lose heavily, as their cattle are suffering severely from the excessive heat and dry weather.

Hot as it is, however, there have been no prostrations or deaths reported.

RATES FOR TEMPLARS.

All Railway Rate-Making Associations Have Been Liberal.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., July 7.—For the triennial convocation of the Knights Templar at Louisville, August 27-30, the Central, Trunk Line, New England, Southwestern, Western, Southeastern and Trans-Continental Passenger Associations and the Associated Railways of the Virginias and Carolinas have made a reduced rate, two associations granting one fare, plus $2 for the round trip, and the others one fare.

CASE OF EARL RUSSELL.

The Trial in the House of Lords May Present an Object Lesson to the People.

MAY TEND TO DIGNIFY THE JURY SYSTEM.

A Course of Procedure that Has Laid in Abeyance for Nearly Sixty Years May Prove an Eye-Opener to the Twentieth Century Britons.

New York, July 6.—The London correspondent of the Tribune, writing of the Russell case, says:

The case of Earl Russell, involving the trial of a peer by the house of lords after the suspension of functions of this kind for 60 years, may offer an object lesson in the form of a majority verdict, which will tend to dignify the traditional rights and dignities of twelve ordinary men in the box. New precedents may be created by a fresh committee empowered to examine the journals of the house of lords.

The Essential Facts.

The essential facts will be that a radical peer will be exposed to a majority verdict from a house representing the old Toryism of the privileged classes, and that any member answering the roll call of the lord high steward will be both an unanswered jurymen respecting issues of fact and a judge regarding complex questions of divorce law in England and in America. The results of so remarkable an experiment in criminal procedure can not be safely forecast. An abandonment, or at least, a reconstruction of the antiquated procedure of trial by a privileged jury would seem more likely than the substitution of a majority for a unanimous verdict in ordinary criminal practice.

The Nevada Divorce.

The Nevada judge who granted the divorce decree to Earl Russell has, indeed been instrumental in raising a series of questions of exceptional interest. This is the first issue of the validity of the divorce under the laws of Nevada and the decisions of the United States supreme court. There is a fundamental question of the power of any foreign tribunal to release an Englishman from the obligations of marriage contracted in his own country, and to enable him to return to England with another wife. There is the issue of privilege, with the anomalous procedure of trial by the house of lords where there is a charge of felony against a peer, and this is the traditional inheritance of social conditions which have been transformed by the normal development of political institutions.

A Pandora's Box Opened.

The Nevada judge has opened a Pandora's box for the confusion of the privileged order, and for the bewilderment of hair-splitting lawyers. The best consolation which the stern moralist can find is the hope that the Russell case may lead to the enactment of uniform divorce laws in the states of the American union, and may open the way for a closer approach between England and America in legislation for the defense of the sanctity of marriage.

HSU SHI CHIN MAY COME IN.

The Chinese Reformer to be Admitted Despite Consular and Legislation Protests.

San Francisco, July 6.—A telegram received by the collector of customs from the treasury department authorized the admission of Hsu Shih Chin, the Chinese reformer, against the protest of the Chinese consul general and the legation of that country in Washington. The secretary of the treasury rules that this government can not debar Chinese immigrants of the favored classes because of political offenses.

BECAME INSANE ON A TRAIN.

Mrs. Eliza Bennett, of New York, Becomes Insane While Traveling Through Colorado.

Pueblo, Col., July 6.—Mrs. Eliza Bennett, of New York, was taken violently insane on a train, while on her way to Del Norte, and at Pueblo it was found necessary to remove her. She was taken in charge by the police and put in charge of the matron.

At police headquarters Mrs. Bennett conceived the idea that her arrest was due to her having stolen a watch, and for a time she became quite violent. She will be held until her friends in the east can not be notified of her condition.

Today the good roads convention convenes at Hopkinsville and there seems to be no temporary scarcity of citizens in this county.

The prospect of a new railroad for each section seems to have caused the white angel of peace to have spread her wings over us all.

Mr. Bryan and Col. Watterson have made what otherwise would have been a dreary spring and summer for Democrats, both exhilarating and irritating.

Mrs. W. S. Taylor, wife of the Kentucky fugitive, died yesterday in Indianapolis. She suffered with heart disease. The remains will be buried at Indianapolis.

It is to be hoped that the section of good road to be built at Hopkinsville today and tomorrow will be good enough and long enough for those fellows who have been a discredit to the asylum management to get out of the town upon.

The Fourth of July enthusiasm that bubbled out of the people of Marion flowed off in the explosion of about thirty cents worth of last years fire-crackers. If there was ever a demonstration in Marion on the great national holiday, the man who remembered it died of old age long years ago.

It will go down in history of the great good that Ollie James and C. K. Wheeler have done for good roads in this state. Gov. Beckham knows who are experts in the building of good roads, and he don't hesitate to appoint men who are perfectly familiar with the work in its various details, and therefore he appointed these two road experts.—Mayfield Messenger.

Wheat is quoted at fifty-five cents. Evidently the wheat growers and harvest hands have not formed a trust. Strange that the manufacturers get together so easily, and fix the prices of their products, not to suit the demand for the article, but to gratify their own sweet will, while the wheat grower's sweet will is shut out and he must hold his product or take the price of the buyer.

Prof Evans was conductor of the Trigg county teachers institute last week. The Cadiz Record says of his work: "The teachers were much interested in the drill given them by Prof Evans. His skillful drawing out of the members of the institute of the mental pictures formed by the reading of the poem was especially noticeable. It is no exaggeration to say that for efficiency as an institute instructor, for power to draw out and interest the teachers, Mr. Evans has no superior among those who have appeared before the teachers of Trigg."

A young man of West Virginia has sued his erstwhile sweetheart to recover the money he spent on her in the days of their courting before they had their final "falling out." His bill is for $27.00. A young lady of this county who has had a few sweethearts herself, remarked innocently enough that the W. Va. plaintiff ought to suffer disappointment because of his unheard-of extravagance.

A New York estimate is that the July disbursements of interest and dividends will aggregate about $120,000,000 against $105,570,000 a year ago and $94,000,000 two years ago. All of which shows that the fellows who are pocketing "interest and dividends" are well and doing well. If we could all get into this branch of the business, nobody would have the interest and big dividends to pay.

The President has issued his proclamation opening the ceded Indian lands in Oklahoma at 9 o'clock August 6, and 20,000 people are camped on the border of the territory, waiting for the grand rush. Gentlemen, while you wait at the front door of the home of the drought, and wander anxiously over the pastures of the grasshopper, where water is as scarce as political harmony in Kansas and vegetation as scant as clean politicians in Louisville, crystal streams are gurgling across untenanted lands in old Kentucky. What more need be said?

During last May an infant child of our neighbor was suffering with cholera infantum. The doctors had given up all hopes of recovery. I took a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy to the house telling them I was sure it would do good if used according to directions. In two days time the child had fully recovered. The child is now vigorous and healthy. I have recommended this remedy frequently, and have never known it to fail.—Mrs. Curtis Baker, Bookwalter, Ohio. ### Gems from Gordon's Lecture.

My heart was loyal to the Confederate flag, but when it went down at Appomattox I saw in the smoke of battle the hand of the Almighty holding together this glorious Union. I told the remnant of Lee's defeated army that Providence had decreed the failure of their cause, but had placed them not in the hands of a foreign foe but in the hands of their own countrymen, who would see that justice was done—and that prophecy has since been verified.

"But all this is past—gone forever, and by Heaven's decree," declared Gen. Gordon, "and as a Southerner, if by one stroke of my pen I could restore slavery, I would not do it!"

"I want you to build your monuments, and the higher you build them the higher the tribute you will pay to the bare footed and ragged heroes who held you at bay for four long years. I wish that those monuments might hold their heads among the stars. The descendants of both armies will see to it that wherever the flag of the Union may wave, on land or sea, it shall be more and more respected by the nations of the earth, and that it shall move onward and upward in its benign mission to humanity."

"My country," said Gen. Gordon, in tones ringing as if with command, "is wherever the flag rightfully floats, and the day is not far distant, however wise or unwise our first policy may have been, when there shall come from the peoples in Porto Rico, Cuba, and the isles of the Pacific, the shouts of glad huzzahs, praising God for the presence of that flag and the assured hope of American freedom."

If you want some "just as good" "I make it myself" remedy, try an imitation Rocky Mountain Tea. 'Twill make you sick and keep you sick. Ask your druggist.

Minutes of Members Meeting.

Following are the proceedings of the ministers' and members' meeting of the Ohio River Association, held with Mint Spring church, Livingston county, Ky., June 28-30:

FRIDAY MORNING.

The house was called to order by the former moderator, W. R. Gibbs.

After singing two or three of the good old songs of Zion, and prayer by Eld J. S. Henry, the regular order of business was taken up.

1. Introductory sermon by Rev G. S. Summers.

2. Election of officers.

On motion of Eld J. S. Henry, Eld W. R. Gibbs was re-elected moderator by acclamation.

On motion of Eld W. F. Wolfe Eld U. G. Hughes was re-elected clerk in like manner.

On motion of R. A. LaRue, adjourned till 1:30 p. m.

AFTERNOON.

At 1:30 p. m. came together with song and prayer.

1. Eld J. J. Franks being absent his topic, "Is the Kingdom of Christ His Church?" was assigned Eld Clarence Hodge.

2. Essay: "Best plan of securing money for missions," read by Eld R. A. LaRue.

He would preach missions, pray missions, scatter tracts, etc. He thinks the preacher must have the spirit of missions if he teaches it to his church. He would appoint committees and not take public collections.

Clarence Hodge would pray God to raise up missionaries in the different churches and associations, and send them that it might interest their people at home.

J. S. Henry would preach missions, scatter tracts, etc.

W. F. Wolfe thinks we can't help giving for missions if we believe the Bible.

P. A. Clark thinks the church is equally responsible with the pastor in raising missions.

J. S. Miller agrees with essayist that preaching the gospel is the means of raising missions. He would try to get each one to mean something.

After further discussion by Elders Summers, Eaton, Humphreys, Gibbs and others, passed with criticism.

3. Essay by Eld J. S. Henry, "Do the Scriptures teach proportionate giving; if so, how much?" He thinks it does, as much as one can.

R. A. LaRue and others disapprove public collections because it cultivates popular giving.

E. E. Eaton and J. S. Miller think it pays to give, but not always in dollars and cents.

P. A. Clark thinks proportionate giving means to give as we are able. He prefers to use the word paying instead of giving.

J. A. Dukes says all we have belongs to the Lord and we should not withhold it.

Clarence Hodge believes in giving till you feel it and then say nothing about it. He says religion pays all around.

After further discussion adjourned to meet at 9 o'clock, a. m.

SATURDAY MORNING.

After devotional exercises the regular order of business was taken up.

1. Essay, "How should a church proceed in securing a pastor?" by Eld W. R. Gibbs.

At this instant the committee on divine services announced preaching in the grove by Eld U. G. Hughes. The clerk's chair being vacated for the hour we can tell nothing of Bro. Gibbs' essay, but we feel safe in saying it was a good production, for Bro. Gibbs never does anything by halves.

Sermon for criticism by Eld E. M. Eaton. Text, "With what body they come?" 1. Cor. 15:35. Subject: The Resurrection.

He takes the position that these identical bodies of ours shall be brought forth in the flesh at the resurrection. Bro. Eaton manifests a great deal of zeal in his preaching. Adjourned till 1 p. m.

AFTERNOON.

After song and prayer services, the sermon was taken up for criticism.

After much criticism, both adverse and commendable, was passed.

At 2:30 committee announced preaching in grove by Elder J. S. Henry.

Essay: "Lack of spirituality in the church; cause and remedy," by U. G. Hughes.

He proves the lack by observation, tradition and history.

Causes: An unconverted membership, formality, lack of devotion, lack of discipline, benevolent societies, lack of sound gospel teaching, etc.

On motion was passed with its criticism.

On motion, adjourned till 9 a. m. Sunday.

SUNDAY MORNING.

Devotional exercises.

Essay: "Is there a decline of power in the ministry of today?" by Eld J. S. Miller.

He thinks not; thinks there never was a time when there was more power in the ministry than today.

At this point the committee on divine service announced half an hour song service in grove, after which Eld Clarence Hodge would preach.

Criticisms on Bro Miller's essay.

Bro Hodge wants preachers spiritual power, believes in a sacred ministry.

J. S. Henry thinks there is decline.

P. A. Clark, R. A. LaRue, W. R. Gibbs think there is a increase in power.

Adjourned to hear Bro. Hodge preach in grove at 11 o'clock.

AFTERNOON.

Topic: "Is the Kingdom of Christ His church?" led by Hodge.

He thinks not. Elds R. A. LaRue, G. S. Summersville, J. S. Miller, and others think not.

Miscellaneous business.

Clark was authorized to publish the proceedings of the meeting in the Western Recorder, Smithland Banner and Crittenden Press.

That the Ohio River Association be asked to incorporate the minutes of this meeting in the minutes of their meeting in August.

The chair appointed Eld J. S. Miller, Bro P. A. Clark and Zed Bennett committee to arrange program for next meeting.

On motion of Rev E. M. Eaton the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That we extend our heartfelt thanks to the brethren and sisters of Mint Spring church and the people of community, for the kind and hospitable manner in which they have entertained us during the sitting of this body.

On motion of Eld J. S. Henry pastor R. A. LaRue was included in the resolution.

After song and parting hand adjourned to meet on Friday before the fifth Sunday after March, 1902 with the church selected by the Association at its next meeting.

This was one of the best meetings of the kind we have ever attended. The attendance was large the interest good, and pastor LaRue and his people spared no pains in making the occasion pleasant as well as profitable.

Bro LaRue always knows how to entertain his brethren.

Gen. Gordon's lecture, or ora-

THE SUNDAY LAW

To be Put to the Test in Our Courts.

For some time the question of permitting the soda fountains to do business on Sunday has been discussed by the people of Marion, and the matter took a turn Monday that will give it prominence in local affairs for some days. The two druggists have been serving the public soda fountain drinks on Sunday, this season; on last Monday the authorities proceeded to issue warrants charging a violation of the Sabbath law.
Druggist Haynes took time by the forelock, entered the plea of guilty and paid the fine. Druggist Orme permitted the warrant to be issued and has employed attorneys to fight out the issue in the courts.

The charges against Jack
Butler and John D. Gregory, employes in Copher's restaurant were settled by Mr. Copher Monday.

FIVE SHOTS

Fired at Ed. Edwards at Black-ford Saturday.

Saturday night an affair occured at Blackford in which the handy revolver played the star part, according to the news we have.
Ed. Edwards and a man named Clark had a few cross words, at the terminus of which Clark shot at Edwards five times, and one shot took effect in Edwards' arm, making an ugly wound.

A Card.

where I will be found with a nice supply of fresh meat. Give me a call. Respectfully,

"That's a beautiful child," said the elderly bachelor, looking with great apparent interest at the baby. "It seems to be biting its finger nails. Aren't you afraid to let it do that? ## HAVE QUEER FAITH.

Mohave Indians Believe That Spirits Die Four Times.

Then They Return to Earth and Become Part of the Soil—No Reward or Punishment in the Spirit World.

[Special Arizona Letter.]

WHEN one crosses the Colorado river at the Needles, on the Santa Fe line to California, he generally sees a large number of Indians at the depot, some with pottery, others with bows and arrows, which they seek to sell to the tenderfoot tourist. The pottery is unadorned clay and will fall to pieces almost at a look, and the bows and arrows were never intended to be shot with. They are made and painted in the Mohave style to catch the white man's eye and sell. Not it is a mistake to say they are painted in Mohave style, for I have seen several of their own old bows and arrows, actually used in the chase and in war, and they are unpainted and exceedingly plain. But they are dangerous weapons, for all that, and I have seen a deer brought down with them at a distance of between 200 and 300 yards.

In the early days of the white man's travel in their territory the Mohaves were far from reliable. Perhaps one ought to say they could always be relied upon to kill any party of white men that they thought they were capable of handling. Many a spot, both on the Arizona and Colorado sides of the river, could tell a tale of sanguinary and determined battle fought to a finish between a horde of naked Mohaves and a small band of adventurous travelers or prospectors. Many a scalp was lifted, and many a dance of victory held in those days before the white men had fully and completely demonstrated their power.

In 1858 Ives and his band of explorers and soldiers went up the Colorado, through the territory of the Mohaves, into the Black canyon, the Painted canyon, and as far as the mouth of the Rio Virgen. Sometimes the Indians treated him well, sometimes ill.

Then in 1861 Lieut. Wheeler, with his band of scientific explorers, actually pushed up the canyons, and with incredible hardships and sufferings reached the mouth of Diamond creek. The Mohaves gave some help to this party.

So that when the Indian department established a school at Fort Mohave, some 12 or 15 years ago, the Mohaves were ready for it, and knew something of the white people who had so wonderfully taken possession of their ancestral lands.

The school has been doing good work, and it is still at it. In proof of this statement, let the Mohave Indian speak for himself, in response to a question requesting him to tell about the habits and customs of his own people.

Without help or assistance he wrote the following paper, which I quote verbatim as a most interesting account, from a trained Indian boy's standpoint, of the inner life and thought of his people:

"There are many practices among our people which I do not fully understand, therefore I will not attempt to give reasons for all our beliefs or why we follow certain customs.

"I will confine myself to our medicine men, their treatment of the sick, how we dispose of our dead and what we believe in regard to the future state.

"The power of healing comes to the Mohave doctors as a special gift from the Great Spirit; no training or instruction are necessary. They are born to do that work and are peculiarly fitted for it. It is a calling from which there is no escape. The certainty of it is established beyond a doubt even in childhood. In addition to the power of healing, the medicine men command the wind and the rain with the assurance that their commands will be obeyed. They handle rattlesnakes in safety and make money out of leaves.

"The Mohave doctor never visits the sick. The patients are always brought to him.

"He questions the patient in regard to his dreams and locates the disease from that. A dream of being in the water shows that the legs are affected. A dream of wishing to drink blood or commit murder indicates a diseased stomach.

"He effects a cure by singing songs and blowing upon the naked body. Each disease requires a different song. But little attention is paid to diet. No medicine or herbs are used.

"We ask him to tell in the beginning whether he will lose or save his patient. As long as he tells the truth we honor and trust him. If he fails in this seven times we believe he should be punished by death, though this practice has been discontinued out of respect to the opinion of the superintendent of schools.

"He is paid from five to ten dollars for his services.

"The Mohaves burn their dead. A hole about four by two by two feet is dug, over which the fire is made in which the ashes are buried after the burning. As the body burns the dead man's garments are thrown into the fire and his friends take off their own clothes and burn them, as an expression of sorrow and for the spirit to wear in the next world. Horses are slain for his use in the spirit world. The flesh of the horses is roasted and eaten by the tribe.

"Burning the body liberates the spirit, and it rises in the smoke. It does not go at once to the spirit land, but hovers near its old home and friends for about four days. It sees all without being seen; it cries with the friends without being heard. The sadness and grief of the friends finally drive or start it away on its journey to the next world, which is towards the south.

"At the pass between this and the other world it is met by the Great Spirit, who prepares it for the spirit land and conducts it to its new home. There it wears the clothes given by its friends, uses the horses killed on earth for its use, toils and struggles for a living the same as here. The crops, however, are never planted but once, the roots of which never die.

"After a certain time the spirit again dies and is burned and passes into another land. From this place it has died four times, then it returns to this earth again and becomes a part of the soil on which it first lived.

"There is neither reward nor punishment for a good or bad life here. All go to the same place, live together, and are subject to the same trials."

G. WILKINSON JAMES.

Because It Was "Did" Ice.
The servant girl who follows directions explicitly has always been considered a jewel, but there are some flaws even in the most valuable gems, as this story shows.

The jewel in question was a Scandinavian, willing and vigorous, but not over-gifted with intelligence. When she first arrived on the scene she had never seen a refrigerator before. After initiating her into its mysteries, the new mistress instructed her never to leave in the kitchen anything old or left over, but to keep it perfectly clean and fresh by throwing away the old things every morning.

On the day following this the mistress happened to look out of the window and noticed something peculiar in the yard. Summoning the maid she asked:

"Sophia, what is that, and how did it get there?"

The Scandinavian beamed with joy at her own cleverness and in expectation of cordial approval.

"That is old ice, ma'am, left from yesterday. I threw it away, jak you tol' me."—N. Y. Mail and Express.

KANSAS PHILOSOPHY.

There is usually something the matter with a man who carries a woman's watch.

Some women would rather listen to a story about a spell of sickness than read a novel.

It is always easier for a busy man to find extra time for work than it is for a loafer.

Be bold enough to say: "I don't know." And if you can screw your courage up to it, add: "And I don't care."

It is an indication that a woman regards you as a very dear friend when she quits getting out her cut glass for you.—Atchison Globe.

EDUCATION FOR ALL.

National Capital a City of Colleges and Universities.

Titans of Every Age Were Men of Humble Parentage Who Secured Their Education by Application and Self-Denial.

[Special Washington Letter.]

THE close of the college year is called "commencement," because the young people who are given degrees are supposed to have completed education, and be ready in every sense for the "commencement" of their careers in contact with the world.

The national capital is becoming more and more an educational center. Colleges have been here from the early days of the past century, and now we have prosperous universities. There are many busy people who do not understand the difference between a college and a university, but well-informed people know that each university is composed of a number of colleges. The college bears the same relation to a university that a king bears to an emperor. An empire comprises kingdoms, and a university comprises colleges.

It is well known that George Washington advocated the establishment of a national university in the national capital, and his desire is gradually being developed. But the national university is yet only in embryo. It will not be perfected until the congress definitely acts upon the proposition which a number of good men have been projecting for more than a quarter of a century, out of their own individual means.

The secretary of agriculture says that the ideal national university would be a term of service in the executive departments for young men who have been graduated from secular or religious colleges and universities; a term of service in which they would learn all about the federal government, as government clerks, with opportunities for attending the congressional debates, the use of the congressional library and contact with the statesmen from all of the states.

The idea of the secretary, as gleaned from many conversations, is that poor young men may thus have opportunity to earn their bread and butter by working in the government departments, while they also earn their education by devoting their extra time in taking advantage of their environments. To the writer this seems impracticable, because a national university of that character could furnish no diploma, no insignia to demonstrate the course of study. It would be a good thing for the poor young men who constitute the majority of students, and would greatly enhance their worth to themselves, to the republic and to the world, but it would be difficult to systematize such a comprehensive course of study.

In this city, as in all educational centers, it is safe to say that the number of students who support themselves in part, or in fact wholly, is constantly increasing. Although not possessed of exact statistics as to the number of men who support themselves wholly or in part when going through college, it is known to be much larger than the outsider who gets only a superficial view of matters would believe.

Not only this, but the percentage of poor young men increases as well as does the number. Perhaps our colleges have a certain extent more of the poor young men than other colleges. Of course, there is a large number of very wealthy ones, more of them in every entering class, but that is accounted for merely by the greatly increasing wealth of the country.

"Tutoring," that is, private teaching of high school students by college or university students, furnishes at least partial support of a college young man. It is far more extensively carried on than ever before, and on the account of the employment it provides, if for no other reason, does considerable good. Then there are all sorts of things which young men can do which will bring them in money. Some have worked regularly a few hours every day. Possibly this is a satisfactory way. A number turn to writing as an aid, and contribute to magazines and papers. There is no doubt of success. Year after year classes are turned out in which, ever-present, we find the poor young man who has had a struggle through college, and the struggle is not always an unpleasant one, nor unprofitable.

There is no doubt in the minds of experienced educators of the effect of this double struggle for existence and education upon the character of a poor young man. It can be but for the best, in every instance. This is one rule to which there seems to be no exception. For, no matter how hard the struggle, he is independent. He feels his independence and soon becomes self-reliant. Sometimes he is offensively self-conceited, but that's all right. His self-reliance and his self-conceit are parts of the development of ambition, and at the end of four years he is better able to face the world than some of those who have not been through a poor young man's experiences. Moreover, the poor young man has a higher and better appreciation of the education which he has earned by hard knocks. The men of renown who

"Black bright glory from the pale-faced moon,
Or dive into the bottom of the deep,
Where fathom-line could never touch the ground
And drag up drowned honor by the locks," are not the sons of noble blood; not the sons of the rich who were dandies in the lap of luxury. No, all experience, all history shows that the Titans of every age and of all conditions were progeny of the yeomanry whose fathers and mothers held in their loins the bone and tissue of contention for existence, physical strength which they transmitted to the poor boys who were to become Napoleon, Grant, Barreth, Lincoln.

Archbishop Kenne, of Dubuque, when he was rector of the catholic university here, in the founding of which he was a potential factor, delivered a lecture on "The Light of the Dark Ages," in which he gave noble tribute to education by saying: "Throughout the darkness and hopelessness of those dreadful years, there comes down to us a shining light which shines through all the awful gloom. It is the light of the yellow dip in the cell of the cloistered monk. Whatever else he did of good or bad, by keeping alive the student's lamp, the monk gave light to shine through the dark ages, so that we today have transmitted to us the learning of the ancients, all of it of inestimable value to students."

That is a tribute to the value and power of all education, and not a bit of praise of the priesthood, for John J. Kenne is no bigot. Biblical scholars alone are indebted to those monks for the Masoretic pointing of the Hebrew, Chaldee and Syriac versions of the Scriptures, and also for the Hellenistic Greek of the gospels and epistles. Catholic and Protestant alike draw from those fountains of learning, and also from the Sinaitic manuscripts for their acute and comprehensive knowledge of the Word, in which all denominations "think they have eternal life." The students of the world of science are indebted to those monks for the wonderful Ptolemaic theory of the universe, the details of which are marvellous and of great value. To those monks also historians are indebted for all of the knowledge which has been given concerning the great past; and also for the information which has guided modern explorers to the excavations of ancient cities wherein human knowledge has been almost miraculously developed.

When he was a professor of exegetical theology, President Dwight, of Yale, said to the writer: "The college is truly democratic, no matter whether it be located in a republic, in a kingdom or an empire. The sons of rich men and of noblemen stand on a level with the sons of poor men. In college a young man is esteemed for what he is and for what he does; and the worthy poor man may stand far in advance of the unworthy rich."

Every man who has had experience in educational matters realizes the forcefulness of that statement. In seeking the Utopia of true democracy one must look to the college or university. This fact is particularly notable in the national capital, where hundreds of young men of all conditions in life are struggling together for that educational development which will fit them for all of the vicissitudes of the battle of life; the battle of which it has been said: "No time for loitering here. In this battle it is only for God and the angels to be lookers-on." Our national university is slowly developing. The religious denominations are building universities all around the city upon healthful eminences. Men of wealth of the various denominations are endowing professorships, and others are endowing scholarships for the successful poor young men who need aid and encouragement. Thus the national capital is becoming permanently our national center of education.

PAN-AMERICAN BANNERS.

In the Plaza is a green banner with the words "Welcome."

On either side of the Electric tower is a large light green banner with golden design.

On the different buildings are placed South American flags; between each of the South American flags are Pan-American flags.

On each side of the Triumphal Causeway float golden banners, with the coat-of-arms of the United States. The banners are gold to repeat the color used on the pylons.

In the Acetylene building are all-glass signs showing the history of light in 16 different stages of invention—the first panel being a wafer, the last an acetylene gas light.

From the two large flag poles in the Esplanade float large flags. The poles are 99 feet high. On them the flags of different countries, cities, states or societies will be raised on their respective days.

In the Agriculture building a feature of the decorations is the Pan-American and state flags and coats-of-arms of different states and countries exhibiting. They are placed between the garlands, holding them up.

On the poles of the Lily and Cypress courts four large red flags with floral designs float with 64 small streamers, carrying the colors (not flags) of the South American republics—red, white, blue, green and yellow.

On the corners of the Electricity building are placed the flags of the four European powers having colonies in this hemisphere. On the northwest corner, France; southwest, Holland; northeast, Denmark; southeast, England.

Observations and Experience of an Ohio Farmer Who Says He Has No Ax to Grind.

Before building my silo I examined silos of different construction, some of stone, some of cement and others of wood; some round and some square. Then I built my silo of wood, square, with corners well rounded. I aimed to make my silo strong and cheap. There are many methods of construction, some complicated and costly. But I still think that the simplest, strongest, cheapest and tightest pit that will preserve the silage is the best.

I believe that for the best practical results the diameters should range from 12 to 16 feet, according to the amount of stock fed from the silo. I do not think it advisable or practical to build a silo smaller than 12 feet square or 12 feet in diameter. And rather than go above 16 or 18 feet in diameter I advise increasing the capacity by building more silos. The craze just now is for the round stave silo, but I think the average farmer who expects to build a silo would better build a square frame with rounded corners, for the following reasons:

A square wood silo with ribs or girts around it horizontally, lined up and down inside and weatherboarded outside, whether built in a barn or outside, whether tied to another building or standing alone, will always be firm and rigid, and will not suffer from the drying-out process that occurs during the hot weather, when the silo is empty. And this, I think, is a strong point in favor of the frame silo. I have learned of round silos that went to wreck, like an old barrel, in the dry weather. In the Wisconsin bulletin No. 63 the writer says he visited a number of stave silos that were badly damaged and wrecked in this drying-out process and by the wind. In my judgment this wrecking process would be worse in a silo where the staves had been spliced, for they must be made weaker in splicing the staves.

CORNER OF THE SILO.

As I am not a draughtsman, I inclose an illustration from the Wisconsin bulletin that exactly indicates the framework of my silo, except that my silo is 30 feet high and that the girts are closer than here indicated. The corner pieces or segments are not properly indicated in the cut, so I have drawn another sketch that more clearly indicates them. In Fig. 2 you will see that I have the corner well rounded. From the inside of the corner (A) to the face of the segment (B) is 12 inches, and we have no trouble in going around this corner with ordinary tongued and grooved flooring. We lined this framework with yellow pine flooring and gave it a coat of hot coal tar every year; one dollar's worth of tar and one dollar's worth of labor are ample for this work. It is air-tight and preserves the silage perfectly, and I believe if the tarring is not neglected the lining will last indefinitely. Some advocate a brick lining, but I do not think this practical, for the erections would let in the air and the outside woodwork could not well be made air-tight. While in wood-lined silo, tongued and grooved, the moisture of the silage will at once swell it into an air-tight condition, and when the tarring is well done the drying out is reduced to the minimum and the wood protected against decay.

The next pit I will build will be of the same construction, but larger. I believe it is practical to build them firm enough and strong enough against any bulging, up to 16 feet square. I do not think cement at all practical in silo construction (except as a foundation), for the least swelling or contraction would crack and break the coating and let the air in.—M. C. Morris, in Ohio Farmer.

The hedgehog is of great value to farmers, and should be protected. He is always searching for worms and insects that are injurious to plants.

GLASS BRIC-A-BRAC.

Glass, though proverbially brittle, will stand any amount of hard usage; but once it is broken the only thing that remains to be done is to throw it away. Cementing will not do much good.

Glass that has been properly annealed will stand variations of temperature perfectly well, but if this hasn't been done it is likely to break instantly and without apparent reason.

Frequently globes and chimneys fly to pieces when not properly heated. This is due to draught or moisture upon the chimney, especially lamp chimneys, which will crack from top to bottom even after the lamp has been extinguished.

Glass vases used for flowers frequently become coated with an unpleasant deposit in the inaccessible parts of the inside. This is due to decayed stems of flowers that are left too long in the water. This deposit may be removed by cleaning with a cloth that has been dipped in pumice-stone powder.
